

Jaehak Oh

Public Institutions Representative

As a leader in mobility transformation in South Korea and East Asia, Jaehak Oh has played a key role in formulating infrastructure policies and fostering the development of innovating transport systems – including automation, electrification, sharing and integration.

He is the President of Korea Transport Institute (KOTI), a national research institute for innovative transport policies and technologies. He has expertise in new regulations, social acceptance and social impact analysis. During the last 30 years, Jaehak has managed more than 70 KOTI transport projects.

Other Positions

- Chairperson of International Scientific Committee of Eastern Asia Society for Transportation Studies (EASTS) (2015-2019)
- Member of the Steering Committee, WCTR-Society (World Conference on Transport Research Society) (since 2001)
- Expert in innovating transport systems for future mobility and infrastructure policies for the Korean government (since 1992)